

TESTING SERVICES

Ensure your Workday Financial Management deployment launches smoothly by engaging TopBloc to oversee and manage end-to-end system testing with our Testing Administration & Execution Services.

SPECIALIZED SYSTEM TESTING FROM BEGINNING-TO-END

With Testing Services, clients are able to outsource full-system testing to TopBloc's team of Workday-certified experts. We will partner with you to perform end-to-end system testing that ensures all of your business requirements are met and your Workday Financial Management application is functioning as intended.

Our team works with you to develop and run exhaustive test scenarios, tailored to your business, to validate your system and prepare your organization for a seamless transition when your new Workday application launches. The process operates in three stages to guarantee testing is adapted to what your organization needs.

Paired with our Workday deployment services, TopBloc's Testing Services saves our clients both time and resources so they are able to focus on what is the most critical to their business. On average, clients have saved 2.5 full-time equivalents over the course of their E2E testing cycle by working with TopBloc.

WHAT CUSTOMERS ARE SAYING...

“ This is an amazing service that should honestly be included in all implementations! ”

Our team was facing difficult times due to team turnover, and it made the Workday implementation extremely difficult while we tried to balance that with our day-to-day processes. With TopBloc's Testing Services, we were able to get a second set of eyes, and a trusted partner to do a deep-dive of everything we had implemented as part of the design stage. This way, our team was able to obtain reasonable assurance that testing was performed the right way, as we had to stretch our team out to do our own testing, which would often just be scratching the surface.

The Testing team was also able to assist us with any specialized testing we felt was necessary in order to obtain comfort over certain key implementations, no matter how tedious, which from a resource-constrained team, we very much appreciated.

I highly recommend this service to anyone doing a Workday implementation with TopBloc, but especially for companies that aren't able to properly dedicate staff to the Workday implementation.
